Dear Harold:

I spoke with Nancy again today from B. Dalton in Westerville. She has not heard anything back from Carroll & Graf about Never Again! and I don't suspect she will. I am going to either write or call myself and confront them with the apparent contradiction in their communications. I also asked Nancy about the answer you were given about the delay, i. e., that book stores will not put books on the shelf by the same author on the same subject at the same time. That also sounded logical to me, however, Nancy laughed at the idea and said there is no such general principal. She says, if you can sell the book, it will be out there, regardless. She says she does it all the time. More later as I have it. Hope you are doing and feeling well. Sincerely, Dave Yerke
